DIVESTMENT: PUTTING OUR MONEY WHERE OUR MOUTH IS

by Matthew Goodswin

Statistics College has over the past year and a half fought a long battle to divest itself of securities in corporations who were suspected of being complicit in apartheid. In early October, the University’s Board of Directors voted to divest the University of $50 million from corporations which were suspected of having profited from the South African apartheid regime.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy was initiated in 1987, and has since been extended to include a number of other institutions, including the University of California, Berkeley, and the University of Chicago. The policy prohibits the investment of university funds in corporations that are engaged in activities which are considered to be unethical or immoral.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been widely praised as a bold step towards addressing the ethical issues surrounding corporate involvement in the apartheid regime. The University has also been praised for its commitment to social justice and its willingness to take a stand against injustice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been met with some opposition, however, from those who believe that it is not the role of universities to engage in political activism. These critics argue that divestment is a form of economic sanctions, and that economic sanctions are not effective in promoting social justice.

Despite these criticisms, the University of Cape Town has remained steadfast in its commitment to divestment, and has continued to take steps to divest itself of its investments in apartheid-related corporations. The University has also continued to work with other institutions to develop more effective forms of divestment, and to promote the idea of divestment as a means of promoting social justice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been widely praised as a bold step towards addressing the ethical issues surrounding corporate involvement in the apartheid regime. The University has also been praised for its commitment to social justice and its willingness to take a stand against injustice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been met with some opposition, however, from those who believe that it is not the role of universities to engage in political activism. These critics argue that divestment is a form of economic sanctions, and that economic sanctions are not effective in promoting social justice.

Despite these criticisms, the University of Cape Town has remained steadfast in its commitment to divestment, and has continued to take steps to divest itself of its investments in apartheid-related corporations. The University has also continued to work with other institutions to develop more effective forms of divestment, and to promote the idea of divestment as a means of promoting social justice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been widely praised as a bold step towards addressing the ethical issues surrounding corporate involvement in the apartheid regime. The University has also been praised for its commitment to social justice and its willingness to take a stand against injustice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been met with some opposition, however, from those who believe that it is not the role of universities to engage in political activism. These critics argue that divestment is a form of economic sanctions, and that economic sanctions are not effective in promoting social justice.

Despite these criticisms, the University of Cape Town has remained steadfast in its commitment to divestment, and has continued to take steps to divest itself of its investments in apartheid-related corporations. The University has also continued to work with other institutions to develop more effective forms of divestment, and to promote the idea of divestment as a means of promoting social justice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been widely praised as a bold step towards addressing the ethical issues surrounding corporate involvement in the apartheid regime. The University has also been praised for its commitment to social justice and its willingness to take a stand against injustice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been met with some opposition, however, from those who believe that it is not the role of universities to engage in political activism. These critics argue that divestment is a form of economic sanctions, and that economic sanctions are not effective in promoting social justice.

Despite these criticisms, the University of Cape Town has remained steadfast in its commitment to divestment, and has continued to take steps to divest itself of its investments in apartheid-related corporations. The University has also continued to work with other institutions to develop more effective forms of divestment, and to promote the idea of divestment as a means of promoting social justice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been widely praised as a bold step towards addressing the ethical issues surrounding corporate involvement in the apartheid regime. The University has also been praised for its commitment to social justice and its willingness to take a stand against injustice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been met with some opposition, however, from those who believe that it is not the role of universities to engage in political activism. These critics argue that divestment is a form of economic sanctions, and that economic sanctions are not effective in promoting social justice.

Despite these criticisms, the University of Cape Town has remained steadfast in its commitment to divestment, and has continued to take steps to divest itself of its investments in apartheid-related corporations. The University has also continued to work with other institutions to develop more effective forms of divestment, and to promote the idea of divestment as a means of promoting social justice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been widely praised as a bold step towards addressing the ethical issues surrounding corporate involvement in the apartheid regime. The University has also been praised for its commitment to social justice and its willingness to take a stand against injustice.

The University of Cape Town’s divestment policy has been met with some opposition, however, from those who believe that it is not the role of universities to engage in political activism. These critics argue that divestment is a form of economic sanctions, and that economic sanctions are not effective in promoting social justice.

Despite these criticisms, the University of Cape Town has remained steadfast in its commitment to divestment, and has continued to take steps to divest itself of its investments in apartheid-related corporations. The University has also continued to work with other institutions to develop more effective forms of divestment, and to promote the idea of divestment as a means of promoting social justice.
El Salvador: Is Inversion Imminent?

by Michael Barney and Danny Fuhrman

El Salvador

The intense white paper "Inversion: Colon and Washington support of the Frente Farabundo Martí in El Salvador" was released in late 1980. It is a study of the El Salvador crisis by two top officials of the Reagan administration. The paper is based on extensive research and analysis of the situation in El Salvador and its implications for U.S. foreign policy.

The paper argues that the current situation in El Salvador is a result of the U.S. government's policy of "inversion," which involves the provision of military and economic aid to the contra rebels in order to oust the left-wing Frente Farabundo Martí. The paper concludes that the policy of inversion has failed and that alternative strategies are needed.

Civil Defense in Britain for Nuclear Disaster

by Cynthia Alvertnear

UK With Azania: Down with South Africa!

by Peggy Mark

Civil Defense in Britain for Nuclear Disaster

by Cynthia Alvertnear

The British government has been criticized for its lack of preparedness for a nuclear disaster. The paper argues that the current situation in Britain is a result of the U.S. government's policy of "inversion," which involves the provision of military and economic aid to the contra rebels in order to oust the left-wing Frente Farabundo Martí. The paper concludes that the policy of inversion has failed and that alternative strategies are needed.

Whose Life Is Anyway?

by Jean Sarch

Whose Life Is Anyway?

by Jean Sarch

The paper argues that the current situation in Britain is a result of the U.S. government's policy of "inversion," which involves the provision of military and economic aid to the contra rebels in order to oust the left-wing Frente Farabundo Martí. The paper concludes that the policy of inversion has failed and that alternative strategies are needed.

I.S.O. MEETING

by Emerie Gold

I.S.O. MEETING

by Emerie Gold

The paper argues that the current situation in Britain is a result of the U.S. government's policy of "inversion," which involves the provision of military and economic aid to the contra rebels in order to oust the left-wing Frente Farabundo Martí. The paper concludes that the policy of inversion has failed and that alternative strategies are needed.

Draft Registration—The Inside Scoop

by Warren Preston

Draft Registration—The Inside Scoop

by Warren Preston

The paper argues that the current situation in Britain is a result of the U.S. government's policy of "inversion," which involves the provision of military and economic aid to the contra rebels in order to oust the left-wing Frente Farabundo Martí. The paper concludes that the policy of inversion has failed and that alternative strategies are needed.

Relief from the Left

by Laura Rance

Relief from the Left

by Laura Rance

The paper argues that the current situation in Britain is a result of the U.S. government's policy of "inversion," which involves the provision of military and economic aid to the contra rebels in order to oust the left-wing Frente Farabundo Martí. The paper concludes that the policy of inversion has failed and that alternative strategies are needed.
A NEW REQUEST!

A LOOK AT THE PROPOSED COMMUNITY SERVICE PROJECT REQUIREMENT

by Chuck Collins

There is a new request that is being considered to expand the student community service project requirement. This requirement is part of the new proposal for the 2023-2024 academic year. The proposed requirement states that all students must complete a community service project as part of their academic requirements. The proposal is being reviewed by the College's Education and Development Committee.

PROPOSED COMMUNITY SERVICE PROJECT REQUIREMENT

The proposed community service project requirement would require all students to complete a minimum of 30 hours of community service during the academic year. The service hours would be counted toward the student's academic requirements and would be recorded in their academic record. The proposed requirement would be in addition to the current 20-hour community service requirement.

Was This Part In The Selective Guide?

by Melissa Russell

The Selective Guide has recently revised the requirements for its 2023-2024 edition. The guide now includes a section on community service projects that must be completed by all students. The new requirements include:

- A minimum of 30 hours of community service
- Service must be completed during the academic year
- Service hours must be recorded in the student's academic record

The guide also provides a list of community service opportunities that students can choose from. Students are encouraged to choose service projects that align with their personal interests.

ENERGY NEWS

"E.C." by Tom Lewis

The Hampshire College Energy Club has launched a new energy-saving initiative—"E.C." for the entire campus. The initiative aims to reduce energy consumption and promote energy efficiency throughout the college. The club has been working on this project for several months, and it is now ready to be implemented.

The "E.C." initiative will involve a series of energy-saving measures, including:

- Installing energy-efficient lighting throughout the campus
- Installing energy-efficient appliances in all residential buildings
- Implementing a comprehensive recycling program
- Encouraging students and staff to use energy-efficient transportation options

The "E.C." initiative will be monitored and evaluated to ensure its effectiveness. The club will work with the college's administration to make any necessary adjustments to the program.

Hampshire College has set a goal of reducing its carbon footprint by 20% by 2025. The "E.C." initiative is a key part of this goal, and the college is committed to achieving this target.

Birks of a Steepler - Birds - Targi for all Pets

OPENING SPECIALS

Tame Young Parrots
Aquarium Setups

NOW OPEN

OPEN: Mon-Fri, 10:00-9:00
At the Carriage Shop, N. Pleasant St., Amherst
545-5105

NORWOTUCK

When are circular paper products two years ago, a common practice. However, they have not been used for several years due to increased environmental awareness and the adoption of sustainable practices. As a result, the use of non-paper materials has increased, and the demand for circular paper products has decreased. This is a positive trend that has been observed across many industries.

Submissions now being accepted for Literary Works, Visual Arts, and Performing Arts

DEADLINE APRIL 1, 1982
Over the years, the city has evolved to become a bustling metropolis with a vibrant cultural scene. In the heart of this urban landscape, you can find renowned theaters, lively music venues, and picturesque museums. Theaters like the Eastman Theatre, nestled among the historic neighborhoods, continue to attract admirers with their captivating productions. The city also boasts a thriving art scene, with galleries showcasing works from emerging and established artists alike. Music fans are spoiled for choice with performances ranging from classical concerts to contemporary pop and rock shows. And for those who appreciate the visual arts, museums like the Rochester Museum & Science Center offer a wealth of educational and entertaining exhibits. The city's rich history and diverse culture make Rochester an exciting destination for anyone passionate about the arts.
Restaurant review
LA RACLETTE
By Ray Atwood and Bruce Bickel

La Raclette is a sure presentiment restaurant in the mid-price range in the Dilworth Neighborhood. The menu is a fair representation of traditional Swiss cuisine and offers a variety of entrees and side dishes. The service is prompt and friendly, and the atmosphere is welcoming.

The menu includes a selection of appetizers, soups, salads, entrees, and desserts. The entrees are cooked on a special grill that melts cheese over a hot stone, creating a unique flavor that is a favorite of many diners. The desserts are also highly recommended, with a variety of sweet and savory options to choose from.

The pricing is reasonable for the quality of food and service, making it a popular choice among diners looking for a good meal without breaking the bank.

Ghost Train
By Thomas Darragh Melios

Dine at Karmoral and you'll score a really nice meal and an excellent experience. The restaurant has a cozy, intimate atmosphere with warm lighting and comfortable seating. The food is delicious and the service is excellent. A definite dining destination for any occasion.

The chef, John Smith, is a true artist when it comes to plating and presentation. Each dish is carefully prepared and the flavors complement each other beautifully. The wine list is extensive and offers a variety of options to pair with the meal.

The decor is modern and chic, with a mix of industrial and rustic elements. The bar area is a great place to relax and enjoy a drink or two before or after your meal.

Diversion I
If you're tired of the usual fried chicken diet, try something different! How about a delicious, healthy alternative? How about an electric car, that's right! But don't worry, electric cars are not for everyone. They can be expensive and require a lot of maintenance. But for those who are serious about reducing their carbon footprint, electric cars are the way to go.

Electric cars are more efficient, and they don't produce any harmful emissions. They also have a much longer range than traditional cars, which means you won't have to stop at every gas station.

However, electric cars do have some drawbacks. They can be more expensive to buy, and they require a lot of maintenance. But for those who are serious about reducing their carbon footprint, electric cars are the way to go.

In conclusion, electric cars are a great alternative to traditional cars. They are more efficient, they don't produce any harmful emissions, and they have a much longer range. So if you're tired of the usual fried chicken diet, try something different! Try an electric car!
WHAT IS CAVALLINI, ANYWAY?

by Ronald Hovenstein

The splendor of these stickers has persuaded a number of artists to use them in their work. The stickers of the late American artist, David Hockney, are just one example. Hockney used them to create collages that were then exhibited at the Tate Modern in London. The stickers of the Italian artist, Riccardo Scarpa, are also popular. Scarpa used them to create a series of installations that were then exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art in New York. The stickers of the American artist, Jasper Johns, are also popular. Johns used them to create a series of paintings that were then exhibited at the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York.

View The Future

by Deirdré Drake

If you've ever been to the future, you know what it's like. But if you haven't, you can still imagine what it might be like. In this essay, I'll attempt to do just that. I'll try to imagine what the future might be like, based on my knowledge of the present and my imagination.

New Book Reviews

Bella Fat by Margaret Kramer

Jane Doe by Elizabeth Friends

SLAWW Penelope's closed circuit system in a Veneer Office which gives her a sense of control over her environment. She can see her work and see what is happening in her office. Penelope often finds herself getting lost in thought as she looks at her work. The system is especially helpful when she is trying to plan her day or when she is dealing with difficult clients. Penelope's system is not only a time-saver, but also a stress-reducer. She feels more in control of her work and more in control of her life. Penelope's system is a great example of how technology can be used to enhance our lives.

FREE PIZZA

Friday Happy Hour 2:00 - 4:30 p.m.
30 Mills @ .99

HUNGRY U

Embezzlement: "The column prepared by Theodore C. and William B. is available from the Future Foundation.

by John Doe

Jane Doe is a new publication, devoted to the writing and editing of women at the Venice Beach Art Center in Venice, California. The center was founded in 1974 by a group of women who were interested in promoting women's art and artists. The center has since grown to include a wide variety of programs, including exhibitions, workshops, and classes. The center is open to all women, regardless of age, race, or ethnicity.

by Antone Mariner

One of the most important moments in history was when the first woman voted in an election. This momentous event took place in the United States in 1920, when the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution was ratified, granting women the right to vote. The amendment was a result of years of hard work and advocacy by women's rights activists, who had been fighting for women's suffrage for decades. The passage of the amendment was a significant milestone in the struggle for women's rights and paved the way for further progress in the fight for gender equality. It is important to remember this significant moment, as it serves as a reminder of the power of collective action and the importance of fighting for what we believe in.

"The column prepared by Theodore C. and William B. is available from the Future Foundation."
TTThat's (not) All, Folks!

by Almira Wolman

If you're feeling the days getting longer, remember that the winter season is just around the corner. The chill in the air and the shorter days will bring us some much-needed comfort. The holiday season is upon us, and it's time to get into the spirit of the season. Whether it's baking cookies, shopping for gifts, or decorating your home, there's something for everyone to enjoy. So let's get into the spirit of the season and make the most of it.

RESUMES and cover letters

- professionally prepared
- word processed or typeset to your specifications
- fast, accurate service
- reasonable prices

computerized business services, inc.
338 collins street
award: massachusetts
413 502-7789

SALTAD SUBMARINES SYRIANS

THE SUB

11 AM TO 2 PM
5 DAYS
33 E. PLEASANT ST., AMHERST / 549-5160
FREE 16 oz. SODA WITH PURCHASE OF A WHOLE SUB

Hampden What's What

What's In, What's Out

Happ's
The store with the

the "car stow speck"!

Sales, admissions
Electronic Reports
253-9341
2468 main st., amherst, ma

Rugs

Mercantile

AMERICAN CARRIGAN SHOP
open daily 10-6 mon-sat

30% off selected jewelry

GREAT GIFTS-GREAT PRICES

Winter Clothing Clearance

INDIA PRINT DESPREADS
INDIA PRINT 3x28s

performance is subjective to the individual

Hampden What's What

THE CAR STOW SPECK!

Sales, admissions

Electronic Reports
253-9341
2468 Main St., Amherst, MA

Rugs

Mercantile

American CARRIGAN Shop
Open Daily 10-6 Mon-Sat

30% Off Selected Jewelry

Great Gifts - Great Prices

Winter Clothing Clearance

India Print Despreads

India Print 3x28s

Prepared with performance subjective to the individual

RESUMES and cover letters

- professionally prepared
- word processed or typeset to your specifications
- fast, accurate service
- reasonable prices

Computerized Business Services, Inc.
338 Collins Street
Award: Massachusetts
413 502-7789

Salads

Submarines

Syrians

The Sub

11 AM TO 2 PM
5 DAYS
33 E. Pleasant St., Amherst / 549-5160
FREE 16 oz. Soda WITH PURCHASE OF A WHOLE SUB

Wines

New Little Whorehouse at UMass

by Thomas Darragh McMillan

This is a story about a young man who finds himself in a difficult situation. He is a college student who is struggling to make ends meet and is forced to take a job at a strip club to pay for his tuition. The job is not what he expected and he finds himself in a situation that he never thought he would find himself in. He is forced to confront his own morality and the choices he makes have consequences that he cannot undo. This is a story about the consequences of our choices and how they affect our lives.
DEBATE ON NUCLEAR ARMS RACE

N. Bohm and M. S. Smith will debate on "The Arms Race in the 1960's: Why There.
Debate will be held in the RSU 200 at 8 p.m. on February 26.

Apothecary will conduct an investigative review of Hampshire's security in the nuclear age. Rumors of undue harassment, indiscriminate ticketing and towing, and word of dissent within the system have prompted this investigation. Any complaints, information or insights would be greatly appreciated.

An open meeting of the College紙 Student Coordinating Board will be held at the Vermont House, Converse Hall, Hampshire College, on the 24th. The board is reorganizing and seeking new members this semester. All interested students are invited to attend.

TRADITIONAL MARITIME CUSTOMS FOR THE DRAFT NEXT MONTH MARCH 10, 7:00-11:00 P.M.

An Edible Alternative

You're invited to a Benefit Dance for the Women's Media Project, 10th floor C.C., UMass, March 11, 9:00 p.m. $2.00. All women are welcome, re-sponsoried by the Lesbian Union.

BE ALERT: The world needs more love!

For Community Council Open meetings concerning the long awaited long-range planning committee report student deliberation and discussions coming your way some time in March.

Remember our advertisers. They support us. Please support them.

Family Reuse Clothing

ONCE MORE WITH FEELING

We've expanded! Come see what's new.

Family Reuse Clothing
27 So. Pleasant St.
Pittsfield, Mass. 01201

We can guide you safely through the Paper Jungle.

When you're tangled in the thicket of the Paper Jungle this semester, call on WORDPRO.

We can help you complete the Paper Jungle through typing, word processing, and photocomposing services to fit your needs and budget.

With professional results that will turn any project into a trophy, you'll be proud of your work.